What is LaunchMe?

- LaunchMe is Scotland's social enterprise accelerator programme for ambitious social enterprises and community organisations.
- Up to 8 organisations are selected each year to prepare them for growth and to help them to secure investment to achieve social impact at scale.
- The programme involves 8 months of business expert workshops, group meetings, peer support, and a £10,000 repayable grant.
- Since the programme started in 2014, 44 social enterprises have been helped to scale up, 17 of whom have gone on to raise over £1.35m in private investment.

Scale up potential

STS applied to LaunchMe to develop scientifically proven production and application methods, as well as to become investment-ready.

As a result of their participation in LaunchMe, earlier this year they became the first investees of the Catalyst Fund, securing £190k to take their innovative biochar technology to market.

Case study: Sustainable Thinking Scotland CIC

Sustainable Thinking Scotland CIC (STS) is an environmental social enterprise. It delivers projects that encourage local sustainable food production, provides community-scale green waste recycling, and creates learning opportunities for the most vulnerable and disadvantaged in the area.

STS applied to LaunchMe after realising the potential to develop biochar as part of their Kinneil Recycling Project. Biochar is a highly porous form of carbon obtained from baking wood within an oxygen-depleted environment. It has the unique ability to draw and lock in nutrients and toxins from its environment and can be used as a soil additive which can help with soil structure, assisting with water retention and filtration, or it can be 'charged' with nutrients and added to the soil used in food production increasing crop yield and assisting with disease prevention.
